It is predicated upon both the superiority and sufficiency of Scripture in dealing with serious turmoil of the soul and is in keeping with the Mission Statement of TMU and Seminary. This degree is designed for the highest level of student who is serious about biblical counseling and aspires to implement his/her studies into his/her current or future ministry daily. The program does not require that the individual have an undergraduate or graduate degree in biblical counseling, but the student must have formal theological training at the graduate level of at least 72 units and is preferred to possess ACBC certification with at least 3 years of biblical counseling ministry experience. The program is designed for students to participate in only a full-time capacity.

The D.Min. degree is awarded to students who successfully fulfill the requirements of 12 core courses and 1 thesis project (13 classes, 36 units).

Program Outline

The D.Min. in Biblical Counseling degree is a 36-credit-hour graduate degree program, designed to allow students to pursue and receive in-depth training in biblical counseling.

Program Format

We follow a flexible cohort model which will allow for change each semester depending on enrollment. Cohorts will not conduct group projects; however, students will have opportunities to discuss and give feedback to each other on various assignments and present their work to their group for constructive criticism. Attendance will be required during the in-class sessions conducted in the spring and fall. Failure to attend the in-class sessions will result in the student having to re-take the class. Courses will be conducted over 16-weeks and culminate in two-week modules in person each semester over a two-to-four-year period. The D.Min. in Biblical Counseling will currently only be offered in the on-campus environment. Students will participate in two annual modular lectures, one in the fall semester (early December) and one in the spring semester (mid-May), completing four modules in total. In this way, doctoral students will be able to fulfill all lecture-based classes in-person.

Program Requirements

The D.Min. degree is awarded to students who successfully fulfill the requirements of 12 core courses and 1 thesis project (13 classes, 36 units).

Thesis Symposium / Composition

The final thesis course (DM790) includes giving an oral defense of the thesis project in the doctoral program. Students will sign up during the fourth module.

Academic Dishonesty

It is the responsibility of the faculty member to pursue suspected incidents of academic dishonesty occurring within his/her courses. If a student is found to be guilty of cheating, plagiarism, or another form of academic dishonesty, the faculty member is required to document the incident in writing and submit the report to the Provost. The first documented incident of academic dishonesty will result in the student failing the assignment of the course at the instructor's discretion, depending on the severity of the incident. Any subsequent documented offense of academic dishonesty by that student (regardless of whether it occurs in the same or any other course taken by the student at the University) will result in automatic failure of the course and expulsion of the student from the University for a minimum of one academic year.

Academic Probation

Academic Probation is a status assigned to students who do not meet satisfactory academic requirements (see below). It is a procedure that helps the Graduate Studies faculty and staff monitor the student's progress in the program and come alongside those who may need greater assistance to improve their academic skills. Students will only be placed on Academic Probation one semester at a time. Students who satisfactorily improve their academic results during the semester of academic probation will be taken off academic probation for the following semester. Students who are unable to satisfactorily improve their academic results during the semester of academic probation may be placed on academic probation for another semester or asked to take a leave of absence from studies, as deemed by the Graduate Studies administration.

Beginning Students: To enter the Graduate Studies program, prospective students must have a Cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher in their undergraduate studies and provide a satisfactory ministry peer recommendation and supply a writing sample that demonstrates competency for post-graduate level writing and research. For those who do not meet this qualification, the Admissions Committee may place such students on academic probation at the start of the program or deny them admittance to the program.

Current Students: Current students in the Graduate Studies program are required to maintain a Cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher and a grade of 'C' or higher for each class they take. Students who do not meet these standards in a given semester may be placed on academic probation for the following semester. Any class in which the student earns a 'C-' or lower will need to be retaken before graduation at the current cost.

Any graduate student whose cumulative GPA remains below 3.0 or receives grades lower than a C- in classes for two consecutive semesters will be subject to academic disqualification and dismissal from the University. A student subject to disqualification may appeal by submitting a letter to the Provost, stating why he/she should not be disqualified. The student's request will then be reviewed by the Provost for a final decision.

Advanced Standing

Due to the advances, specialized, and unique nature of our courses in the DMin. BC program, there is no opportunity for advanced standing or transferring credit from classes taken at other institutions.

Appeals of Academic Dismissal

A student subject to academic dismissal because of a low cumulative GPA or because of academic dishonesty may appeal by submitting a letter to the Provost within two weeks of being notified of dismissal, along with an explanation of why the student believes the dismissal was unfair. The student's request will be reviewed by the Provost with input from the student's advisor, faculty who have had the student in recent classes, and the academic counselor. The Provost will make a decision on the appeal, which will be communicated in writing to the student.

Department of Biblical Counseling - Graduate Studies - Doctor of Ministry

Auditing

Auditing classes in the D.Min. BC program is not offered at this time.

Continuing Education

D.Min. BC students are considered active if they continue taking modular classes in consecutive semesters and they are considered inactive if they do not take at least one module per semester (spring and fall semesters consecutively). They will also be considered inactive if they do not take modules for three semesters total for the duration of their studies in the program, even if these semesters are not consecutive. Students will be required to enroll in a continuing education course and will be charged a continuing education fee for each required semester they do not take at least one module. Students may only utilize this continuing education option for three semesters total for the duration of their studies in the program. If students are unable to take a module for a fourth semester (total) they will be considered inactive as of the beginning of the next semester. Students who become inactive must reapply to return to the program and are subject to any applicable fees and policies.

Full/Part-Time Status

Any student enrolled in 8 units or more is considered “full-time” in the D.Min. program.

Graduation / Program Length

To successfully graduate from the Doctor of Ministry in Biblical Counseling program, students must complete their studies in no more than 8 academic semesters (approximately 4 years). The program may be completed in 5-6 semesters, depending on the student's and program's availability and schedule. A semester is included in the total even if students do not take a course module in a semester. For re-admit students, the 8 semesters reset to zero when they become inactive and return to the program. Failure to complete the program in 8 semesters will result in students being charged a program extension fee for each semester they exceed this limit up to three semesters. In cases where students exceed the limit of 8 semesters, or exceed the three-additional semester limit, the Graduate Studies administration may require them to retake any or all courses to graduate and continue to pay the program extension fee per semester.

Pass/Fail

Certain courses in our program are graded on a pass/fail basis (no letter grade A-F is given). Due to the nature of these courses and the grading scheme, students are required to submit work within the first 30 days of each class, or they will not pass the class and be required to retake it.

Remote Library Access

To facilitate research from off-campus locations, the University library provides remote access to many of The Master's University's online databases. This access allows the student to search the available databases from any off-campus computer that has an internet connection. Currently, The Master's University has more than 20 databases available with remote access. Students are welcome to contact the library directly if they need help with their research needs.

Scholarships

Scholarships for the D.Min. in Biblical Counseling program are provided through the Graduate Studies department directly, and not through our Financial Aid office. Scholarships are awarded semester by semester. Any active D.Min. BC student who wants a scholarship must apply each semester. Because scholarship funds are provided directly from our department they are limited. In this way, scholarship applications are considered on the basis of a combination of academic performance, financial need, and ministry potential. Scholarship applications are due to be submitted by the first day of the semester to which they will apply. Scholarship notifications will be provided by the beginning of the third week of the semester. Since scholarships are not guaranteed, students should plan to fund their education separately. See the Tuition tab in the D.Min. BC section of the TMU website for more information and to apply for scholarships.
